Personal data is collected

- to be able to identify you as a customer or supplier;
- to be able to give you adequate advice;
- to be able to fulfil our contractual obligations;
- to be able to comply with our legal obligations;
- to be able to communicate with you;
- for the invoicing or, if needed, in the context of dunning;
- for a reliable direct advertisement;
- for asserting possible claims against you.

The personal data is processed due to your request and is required for the mentioned purposes for the processing of your order and for meeting the obligations arising from the underlying contract.

The collected personal data will be saved until the legal retention period for merchants expires (6 or 10 years after the calendar year in which the contractual relationship was terminated) and then deleted. This does not apply if we are obligated to a longer storage period due to retention obligations under tax or commercial law (according to HGB (Commercial Code), StGB (Criminal Code) or AO (General Tax Code)) or if you have given consent to a continued storage.

4 Disclosure of data to third parties

Generally, the personal data will not be disclosed to a third party. Exceptions to this apply only if it is required for the execution of contractual relationships with you. This includes, in particular, the disclosure of data to service providers commissioned by us (so-called order processors) or other third parties whose activities are required for performing the contract (e.g. shipping companies or banks). The third parties may use the disclosed data exclusively for the named purposes.

5 Your rights as a person concerned

As a person affected by the data processing, you have various rights:

- Right to withdraw: You can withdraw your consent at any time. The data processing based on the withdrawn consent may then no longer be continued.

- Right to information: You have the right to request information about the personal data processed by us. This will apply especially for the processing of data, the categories of personal data and, if applicable, the categories of recipients, the storage period, the origin of your data as well as to the existence of an automated decision-making system including profiling and, if applicable, meaningful information on their details.

- Right of correction: You can request the correction or completion of incorrect personal data stored at our location.

- Right to delete: You can request the deletion of the personal data stored at our location unless their processing is required for executing the right to freedom of expression and information, for the compliance of a legal obligation, for reasons of public interest or for asserting, exercising or defending legal claims.

- Right to restricted processing: You can request to have the processing of your personal data restricted if you dispute the correctness of the data, if the processing is unlawful but you reject to their deletion. You have also this right if we no longer require the data but require them for the assertion, execution or defence of legal claims. Furthermore, you have this right if you filed an objection against the processing of your personal data;

- Right to data portability: You can request to receive your personal data that you provided to us in a structured, common and machine-readable format. Alternatively, you can request the direct transmission of your personal data to another responsible party if this is possible.

- Right to appeal: You can appeal to a data protection regulatory authority, for example, if you think that we process your personal data unlawfully. You have the right to appeal a regulatory authority for data protection about the processing of personal data by us.
